Greetings to all of our beautiful Satanic Family,

Everyone is advised to take a day off on this night from warfare if so we want or need. Tonight, one should spend their time to be with Satan, and meditate peacefully in Satan's reassuring energy and power.

This day is to be devoted to Satan, as the holiest day of the year. Positive energies that are beneficial will be present for everyone and it's important one meditates on this, sets their goals, and spends this night in contemplation [or celebration] for Satan. This can be private.

Soon, we will be starting a very good schedule to assist everyone during these ongoing adverse circumstances. Those who absolutely want to do something, feel free to do the usual Final+Tetragrammaton RTR, and one might as well include giving some energy to the Powers of Hell as gratitude.

The first round of rituals, our first and next schedule have went surprisingly well. We are going to see many positive changes out of these, and these have been pivotal.

Above all, remember to focus in the providence of Father Satan.

Wish everyone a happy Solstice. Strengthen your hearts and minds, and may blessings be overflowing for all of Satan's own.
