

Yahoo Groups Archive Now Online

HP Hooded Cobra 666

May 15, 2018

Greetings to all of our Satanic Comrades and Family.

Many people are concerned over the wealth of information existing in the Yahoo Groups and what would come of it in case the groups ever went down. Our groups are strong at 22000 members plus, we are the largest Satanic Community online in our kind, and it's not unlikely that the enemy will throw a tantrum on the groups. This day comes or it does not, we shouldn't be concerned. The Yahoo Groups exist in PDF form, but that doesn't allow that much ease of access.

We worked to solve this issue.

Courtesy of a Satanist who desires to remain anonymous, the Yahoo Groups have been archived. This is wonderful work that we organized and aimed to do, and someone actually gives this as a gift to the Satanic Community.

This should show you that when Satanists care, they can manifest this in interesting works that always help and advance our community.

This is only one of the interesting projects that we will gradually make public as they reach their climax. This is done in the spirit of keeping the Truth alive now and forever. Everyone can do their part.

Those who care and give back to other Satanists do help the work of the Demons. In other words, they get blessed by the Gods for this. We can help and assist, advance one another - this aligns with Satan's interests to help his loved followers, sons and daughters.

The groups are searchable as you will see upon visiting the site below, and everything is indexed in 100% accuracy. This means one can use the search function and find old answers in the groups, with their author, etc. This is done for archiving purposes.

<https://groups-archive.org/>

We will periodically and in long intervals update this.